PRO RODEO CANADA

Pro Rodeo Canada, with its headquarters in Airdrie, Alberta, is the sanctioning body for professional rodeo in Canada.

In 2016, Pro Rodeo Canada sanctioned 55 events in Canada with a combined total payout of over $5.3 million.

The sport organization is committed to maintaining the highest standards that ensure every Pro Rodeo Canada-sanctioned event is managed with fairness and competence, and the livestock used is healthy and cared for to the highest standards.

Pro Rodeo Canada has a strong working relationship with the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) in the United States, and most Canadian rodeos are co-approved for world championship points. World Champions are declared using combined CPRA and PRCA earnings.

Although the contestants are the most visible, the association's membership also consists of rodeo committees, stock contractors, judges, rodeo secretaries, announcers, timers, bullfighters, associate members, photographers, specialty-act performers and more.

Approximately 1100 members are represented by the CPRA's board of directors, who govern the sport of professional rodeo in Canada.

Contestant involvement in Pro Rodeo Canada can be achieved in a number of ways depending on the individual's background in the sport of rodeo. Options include Permit, Semi-Pro and full CPRA Contestant Membership. Details and application forms are available at www.rodeocanada.com

CPRA rodeos create a positive economic impact on the cities and towns that host them. For example, the Canadian Finals Rodeo generates an economic impact of more than $50 million annually into the local community. As well, professional rodeos in North America raise in excess of $30 million for local and international charities each year.

The 42nd Annual Canadian Finals Rodeo attracted over 90,000 fans to Rexall Place in Edmonton, AB last November, a testament to the sport's ongoing popularity and growth.

ABOUT PRO RODEO CANADA

CANADIAN PROFESSIONAL RODEO ASSOCIATION - THE BEGINNING

The year was 1944. That's when a group of cowboys banded together to form the Cowboys Insurance Association. Each member put in $1.00 per rodeo and that amount was matched by rodeo management to form a small insurance fund for the participants.

The following year, the group was re-named the Cowboys Protective Association (CPA) and became a society under The Societies Act. They went from an organization focused almost solely on providing insurance and medical assistance when needed to a body designed to serve its members in a much broader way.

Ken Thomson of Black Diamond was the first President and there were 160 members initially. Before the organization's formation, many rodeos were paying less than $10.00 for first place money and entry fees were not added to the prize money. Thomson recalls attending a rodeo where he spent $14.00 in entry fees, won four firsts and two seconds and got $34.00 back.

The organization laid out its six objectives at the time:

- To organize professional rodeo contestants in the Domination of Canada for their mutual benefit and protection
- To raise the standard of cowboy contestants so the Association would continually rank among the foremost in Canadian and American sports
- To co-operate, insofar as possible, with the management of all rodeos at which members contested
- To protect members against unfairness on the part of any rodeo management
- To bring about honest advertising by the rodeo associations so that the public could rely upon the truth of advertised events in which it was claimed members of the society would participate
- To work for the betterment of conditions and of the rules governing rodeo events in which the members of the society take part

In 1965, the group incorporated under the name Canadian Rodeo Cowboys Association, an identity that lasted until 1980 when the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association became the official name of the organization. Under the auspices of CPRA, Canadian rodeo has become a well-organized and well-regulated sport, with a global membership approaching 1000, a comprehensive insurance and medical program, and a system of fines and suspensions for those breaking CPRA rules.

THE CANADIAN FINALS RODEO

By 1974, it had become evident that Canadian professional rodeo had reached a point in its growth that demanded a high level national championship to conclude its season. The Edmonton Exhibition had decided to run a fall Livestock Show and the Canadian Finals Rodeo would fit well with this event.

CPRA (then the CRCA) officials realized that staging the event would require a governing body comprising equal representation from business and the CRCA.

That led to the formation of the Canadian National Finals Rodeo Commission, which included Bob Robinson, CRCA President and future Hall of Fame cowboy; Len Perry, Chairman of the Edmonton Spring Rodeo committee and member of the Edmonton Northlands Board of Directors; C.N. (Chunky) Woodward, prominent retailer and rancher; and Jerry D'Arcy, President of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede.

The Canadian National Finals Rodeo was launched in 1974 at the Edmonton Gardens, with prize money a substantial $29,278. The inaugural Finals attracted almost 30,000 people and made money that first season - setting the stage for a move to the Edmonton Coliseum the following year, the venue that has been its home ever since.

By 1982, prize money for the contestants had doubled, and a 6-Pac ticket marketing campaign was building loyal attendance growth. 1989 was also a milestone in the history of the Canadian Finals, because when the '89 rodeo ended, so did the existing contract, and the CPRA took a stand. After 15 years of Canadian Finals Rodeos in Edmonton, attendance and prize money had begun to stagnate. Rodeo needed to appeal to urban people because the rodeo family (largely rural) was already giving its maximum support. The CPRA sent a wake-up call to Edmonton by putting the rodeo out for tender. That move attracted Edmonton's attention as did a competing bid from Calgary to host the Finals.

In the end, the capital city saw the economic value of the Finals. So Northlands came back offering to guarantee the purse of over $250,000, with an annual escalation clause. But the real hook was the formation of the Edmonton Rodeo Cowboys Benevolent Foundation, to provide assistance to injured rodeo athletes. The local business community has remained staunchly behind this program with events like the Black Tie Bingo, and now Bling 'N Boots and the 50-50 raffles during the rodeo.

There have been changes over the years, some popular; others came with their share of controversy. Team Roping became part of the CFR event line-up in 2000. In an effort to tighten up the performance length, the boys steer riding finals were moved to Strathmore in 2003 before returning to Edmonton in 2008. Novice qualifiers went from six in both bare-back and saddle bronc events, down to the current three contestants in each.

The move to include an average payoff, and have average points count towards the Canadian championships first appeared in 2008, while in 2010, the change was made to include season standings and switch from sudden death points, to using straight money earned totals for determining the champions.

One of the biggest debates over the years has centered on who qualifies to compete in the Canadian championships. As prize money grew, so did the pressure to open up the CFR to more than just Canadian-born contestants. In the wake of negotiating a new deal between the CPRA and the PRCA, the doors were opened in 2006, as long as the contestants participated in a set number of Canadian rodeos. Since that time, there has been a maximum of five non-Canadians who can be part of the CFR line-up in each event.

2004 was another banner year for the CFR when prize money topped the one million mark for the first time. And in 2006, attendance reached an all-time high when it hit 95,000 for the six performances. At its 40th anniversary event in 2014, CFR prize money climbed to $1.47 million and continues to attract world class rodeo athletes as well as rural and urban fans in record numbers.

Animal Safety and Welfare

The regulations for care and management of rodeo livestock have been an important part of organized rodeos since the early 1900s. From its inception in 1945, the Cowboys Protective Association (CPA), today known as Pro Rodeo Canada, began creating rules to govern the care and use of animals in the sport

Pro Rodeo Canada supports the responsible and humane use of animals and believes that all animals utilized in entertainment, industry and sport should be afforded proper care and management.

Pro Rodeo Canada continues to be proactive in regard to the care and handling of all rodeo livestock. Extensive rules are in place pertaining to equipment, facilities, care and handling of livestock and conduct of competitors and livestock handlers to ensure the safest, healthiest conditions possible for all rodeo animals. Among these are the following examples (a small sampling as the code of conduct for animal welfare at rodeos is several pages long):

- A veterinarian must be on-site at all performances and sections of slack.
- A designated area should be available to treat any animal that may be injured.
- Animals used for rodeo events should be handled by competent, experienced personnel at all times.
- Stimulants or hypnotics will not be used or given to any animal used for contest purposes.
- No person will abuse or mistreat any animal by any noncompetitive or competitive action anywhere on the rodeo grounds.
- Spurs must be dulled. No locked rowels, or rowels that will lock on spurs may be used on bareback or saddle bronc horses. Loosely locked rowels may be used in the bull riding event.
- Horse flank straps will be of the quick-release type and must be fleece or neoprene-lined to cover the belly and both flanks of the horse.
- All animals will be strong and healthy. Animals for all events will be inspected by a rodeo official before the draw. Animals that are injured, sore, lame, sick or have impaired eyesight will not be included in the draw. Should an animal become sick or incapacitated between the time it is drawn and the time it is scheduled to be used in competition, that animal will not be used and another animal will be drawn for the contestant.
- Calves may not be intentionally flipped backward; contestants must adjust rope and reins in a manner that will prevent a horse from dragging a calf with the rope to be removed from the calf as soon as possible after a "tie" is approved.

Pro Rodeo Canada stock contractors are expert stockmen and are very proud of their animals. They own and care for hundreds of head of livestock. They take pride in the conditioning and athletic ability of their animals, and, like a well-trained human athlete, an animal can perform to the best of its ability only if it is healthy and in top physical condition.

Pro Rodeo Canada event committees ensure that the facilities are inspected prior to the arrival of the animals and contestants in order to minimize the chance of injury to animals and contestants.

Professional rodeo judges inspect the livestock prior to each rodeo performance and any animal suspected of not being able to compete to the best of its ability is 'pulled' from the performance. The rodeo judges are responsible for the enforcement of all Pro Rodeo Canada rules including a section that deals exclusively with the humane treatment of livestock. Rodeo judges undergo constant training and evaluation to ensure their knowledge and understanding of the rules is being maintained and that they are correctly enforcing them, particularly those rules regarding the care and treatment of rodeo livestock.

Animal welfare is a major ongoing initiative of Pro Rodeo Canada and the organization continues to review, examine and change its regulations pertaining to animal welfare and safety each year.

2017 Pro Rodeo Canada Media Guidelines

NOTE: The following guidelines govern media covering Pro Rodeo Canada/CPRA events. All media must review these. At the discretion of Pro Rodeo Canada and/or the respective rodeo committee, failure to adhere to these may result in forfeiture of media credentials and escort from the premises, as well as refusal of accreditation for future events. Unless specified otherwise, journalists and media are general terms for print, electronic, television, Internet and photo journalists.

General media guidelines and regulations

- Credentials are distributed on an as-available basis to journalists of recognized news outlets who are on assignment to cover the event and/or Pro Rodeo Canada. Journalists must represent recognized daily or weekly newspapers; news services; recognized publications and outlets that regularly cover rodeo; recognized national/regional radio and television networks; local radio and television stations; and/or recognized Internet sites. In each case, this is determined by Pro Rodeo Canada and the respective rodeo at their sole discretion.
- Accreditation badge must be worn at all times.
- Freelance journalists and photographers must provide proof of assignment to be considered for accreditation. They also must sign a form confirming that the images taken will only be used for that specific publication and for that specific story.
- News media credential applications and approvals to cover individual Pro Rodeo Canada events are available through the CPRA office. Media credentials must be requested no less than one week in advance of when needed.
- Security checkpoints and procedures have been implemented for the safety and protection of all. Accredited media are expected to cooperate with the procedures and requirements implemented for access to the media, photographer and broadcast areas. Media access will vary by rodeo, and the media rules of the respective rodeo must be followed.
- Contestants are available for interviews after they compete.
- Many of the individuals staffing media areas are volunteers, and the accredited media and broadcasters are expected to treat them with courtesy and respect.
- Media access to contestant warm-up areas depends on the regulations of the respective rodeo.

Television, Radio and Internet

Pro Rodeo Canada owns the rights to originate live, play-by-play coverage from the rodeo grounds, and in many instances, these rights may have been awarded to a broadcast or cable network and/or an Internet provider. Subject to the limitations previously outlined, non-rights-holding local radio, television stations, networks and Internet providers are encouraged to cover Pro Rodeo Canada events with the following limitations.

- Pro Rodeo Canada retains all rights in and to the filming, taping, recording in any media now or hereafter known, still footage/photography, radio or television broadcasting or reproduction in any manner or form thereof of any Pro Rodeo Canada-sanctioned event. The only exemption is coverage for local, regularly scheduled newscasts. Any non-local news outlets must first get approval from the national Pro Rodeo Canada office and the local rodeo before it can shoot footage at any Pro Rodeo Canada-sanctioned rodeo.
- Television, radio and broadcast credentials applications and approvals to cover individual Pro Rodeo Canada events are available through the CPRA office. Credentials must be requested no less than two weeks in advance of when needed.
- Some rodeo rounds are televised, and for those sessions, access may be limited.
- Any TV/radio broadcaster who does not comply with the above regulations will, without warning, have his/her accreditation withdrawn for the remainder of the rodeo and may be banned by Pro Rodeo Canada from covering future events.

- Any TV/radio broadcaster who does not comply with the above regulations will, without warning, have his/her accreditation withdrawn for the remainder of the rodeo and may be banned by Pro Rodeo Canada from covering future events.
- For local, regional and national TV news coverage, coverage of Pro Rodeo Canada events shall not exceed three minutes in length in the daily aggregate and must be a part of a regularly scheduled newscast. Only taped footage may be included in these reports. The outlet may not purport to show live, play-by-play coverage from a rodeo unless approved in advance by the local rodeo and Pro Rodeo Canada.
- Local credentialed TV outlets may broadcast live from the rodeo grounds, as long as the broadcast does not include action from inside the arena (which is covered above).
- Television cameras are not allowed on the arena floor, with the exception of the TV network covering the event.
- Pro Rodeo Canada owns the rights to all recorded coverage of its rodeos, whether it airs on a national, regional or local network. All media outlets will provide Pro Rodeo Canada with copies of their coverage upon request.
- Radio and Internet (audio or video) coverage may not purport to be live, play-by-play from the rodeo unless this has been approved and arranged in advance with the local committee and Pro Rodeo Canada.

General photography guidelines

- Only accredited photographers may shoot at a Pro Rodeo Canada-sanctioned event for media and/or commercial purposes.
- Freelance photographers will not be accredited without proof of assignment for a specific media outlet and without signing an agreement for limiting usage of the images to the specified assignment.
- Only Pro Rodeo Canada photographers are allowed to shoot in the arena. The only exception to this is for a post-rodeo ceremony shot, if applicable.
- Photographers must shoot from designated photo areas as set out by the rodeo committee. Photographers may not shoot behind the bucking chutes during a rough-stock event except with specific committee approval and may only shoot from there for timed events with the appropriate approval.
- Any secondary non-editorial or commercial use of any picture, film or drawing of a competitor is prohibited without prior consent of Pro Rodeo Canada, the contestant and/or the stock contractor.
- Photographers who do not comply fully with the above regulations may, without warning, have their credentials withdrawn for the remainder of the rodeo and could be banned by CPRA from attending future events.

Event Descriptions

Saddle Bronc Riding

In the "classic event of rodeo", the rider spurs from the animal's shoulders in an arc-like motion toward the back of the saddle in time with the bronc's actions. The cowboy rides in an "Association Saddle" with no horn while holding onto a braided buck rein. He wears spurs with dull rowels and chaps of light leather. The cowboy places his hand on the rein carefully to maintain balance and avoid either being pulled down over the front end or launched out "the back door". To qualify for a score, the rider must have his boots over the break of the horse's shoulders until the horse has completed his first jump out of the chute. He cannot touch any part of the animal or equipment with his free hand, lose a stirrup or get bucked off before the end of the eight second ride. The higher and harder the horse bucks and the better the cowboy spurs-the higher the score.

Tie Down Roping

Tie-down roping is the most technical event in rodeo. At the start of the run, the roper must remain behind the barrier until the calf crosses the scoreline. Breaking the barrier adds ten seconds to the roper's time. After roping the calf, the cowboy dismounts from his horse, runs down his rope and lays the calf down by hand. If the calf is down when he reaches it, he must allow the calf to get up and then lay it down. The roper then ties any three legs with a "piggin' string" (a shorter rope he carries between his teeth). The tie must hold for six seconds after the roper remounts his horse. The work of the horse is crucial; he must rate the speed of the calf, stop on cue in a single stride then hold the rope taut while the roper runs to his calf.

Ladies Barrel Racing

One of rodeo's most popular events, the barrel race requires the rider and her horse to complete a cloverleaf pattern around three barrels. The time starts when the competitor crosses an electric beam of light (start / finish line) and the time is completed when she recrosses the line after completing the pattern. Talented riders on fast, athletic horses that can blaze through the pattern while keeping all three barrels standing are the key to success. A five second penalty is assessed for a barrel being tipped over, effectively knocking the rider out of the money.

Bareback Riding

This event is the most physically demanding in rodeo. The cowboy inserts his gloved hand into the suitcase handle-like bareback riggin which is made of leather and is cinched around the horse. The stress on the riding arm is intense, absorbing most of the horse's power. The rider will be disqualified for failing to keep his spurs over the break of the horse's shoulders until the first jump out of the chute is complete, for touching the animal or equipment with the free hand, or for getting bucked off before the end of the eight-second ride. Riders try to spur the horse on each jump, reaching as far forward as they can with their feet, then bringing their spurs back toward the riggin. While they look wild and out of control, the great bareback riders are anything but - keeping their bodies in the middle of the horse's back while working their spurs to advantage for the entire eight seconds.

Steer Wrestling

Timing, coordination and strength are prerequisites for a steer wrestler. To begin with, he must remain behind the barrier, which is a rope stretched across the front of the starting box, until the steer crosses the scoreline, giving it a prescribed head start. If the cowboy breaks the barrier, ten seconds are added to his time. The horse is trained to run beside the steer and then run on by as the steer wrestler reaches for his steer. The steer wrestler catches the right horn in the crook of his right arm then must hit the ground with his legs extended forward in order to bring the steer to a halt. Using his left elbow and forearm as leverage under the steer's nose, he 'bulldogs' the steer to the ground. The steer must be flat on its side with all four legs extended. The second mounted cowboy is the hazer and it's his job to keep the steer running straight, allowing the bulldogger to get down on the steer.

Team Roping

Two contestants, two horses, two ropes, one steer and one barrier rope. Team roping requires close cooperation and timing between highly skilled ropers, a header and heeler. As in other timed events, the team ropers start from boxes on each side of the chute from which the steer is released into the arena. The steer gets a head start depending on the length of the arena. The header takes off in pursuit, with the heeler trailing slightly behind. If the header breaks the barrier before the steer completes its head start, the ropers are assessed a ten second penalty. Once the header makes his catch he turns the steer to expose the back legs to the heeler. The heeler then attempts to rope both hind legs. If only one is caught, there is a five second penalty. The clock is stopped when there is no slack in the ropes and the horses are facing each other.

Bull Riding

Rodeo's most dangerous event and the toughest eight seconds in sport. The bull rider inserts his gloved hand into the handhold of a flat, braided rope which is passed around the girth of the bull, into the palm of the hand, around behind the wrist and into the palm of the hand one more time. A weighted cowbell hangs on the underside of the rope allowing it to fall free when the ride is completed. During the eight second ride, the cowboy must keep himself close up on the handhold to prevent his arm from straightening and jerking his hand loose at the same time keeping his free hand from touching the bull. Riders are not required to spur, as staying on these strong, athletic, loose-hided and often cantankerous animals is difficult enough. But if the cowboy is able to use his feet, he can improve the mark from the judges. Rather than pick-up men, skilled "bullfighters" distract the bull at the end of the ride to allow that cowboy to escape to safety.

Rodeo Terminology

Added Money

The money put in by the local committee in each event which is then added to the entry fees paid by contestants to comprise total prize money.

Average (Aggregate)

The term used for the total score (or times) for a contestant competing in more than one go-round. (For example--the rider had scores of 85 and 83 and finished third in the average with 168 points on two rides.)

Barrier

The barrier is a breakaway rope that is pulled across the roping chutes. It is designed to give the steer or calf a head start out into the arena making the competition more difficult. If the roper, steer wrestler or team roping header leaves the box too soon, and fails to allow the calf or steer sufficient head start, a 10 second penalty will be assessed.

Bronc Rein

Relevant in the saddle bronc riding event. A 6 foot braided rope which the bronc rider holds onto at a specific place along the rope depending on the attributes and bucking style of the horse he is about to ride (mainly how the horse carries its head—higher or lower).

Bucking Chute

Gated enclosure in which the rider gets down onto the back of the animal, and takes his handhold prior to the animal being released.

Bull Dogger

Another name for a steer wrestler

Bull Fighter

A rodeo athlete who protects the bull rider after he dismounts or is bucked off the animal. The bull fighter distracts the bull, often by putting himself between the bull and bull rider, to allow the rider to get away from the animal and back to the chutes safely.

Chaps

Sturdy leather leggings, worn over jeans, to protect the rider's legs during a rough stock ride.

Dally

Wrapping the end of the rope around the saddle horn immediately after an animal is roped.

Delivery (left or right)

Many bucking animals prefer to stand in the chute facing a particular direction, so they can leave the chute in the direction they prefer.

Draw

In the rough stock events, the competitor is assigned an animal in a random draw from those provided to that rodeo by the stock contractor(s). That draw is most often made several days before the rodeo. In the timed events, the competitor is assigned an animal, again from a random draw made on site and shortly before the start of the performance.

Flank Strap

A sheepskin or neoprene lined break away strap passed around the flank of a bronc or bull, used to enhance bucking action. A flankman (cowboy or cowgirl) will be positioned behind and slightly above the bucking chute to place and adjust the flank strap just prior to the animal being released from the chute.

Go-Round

The term used when every competitor entered in an event has competed once in that event. Some rodeos have more than one go round. The CFR, for example, has six go rounds.

Hang Up

In the roughstock events, when a competitor can't free his hand from a rigging or bull rope, that competitor is hung up. This is a dangerous situation for the cowboy and can lead to serious injury.

Hazer

In steer wrestling the hazer is a mounted cowboy who rides along the right hand side of the steer keeping it running in a straight line enabling the steer wrestler to jump from his horse and take hold of the steer.

Header/Heeler

The two partners in team roping – the header throws the first rope, over the animal's head or horns, and the heeler throws the second rope to catch both the steer's hind legs; roping one leg results in a five-second penalty.

Judges

As in other sports, trained officials ensure that all participants follow the rules of the rodeo's sanctioning body; they confirm times for runs in the timed events and determine scores for rides in the roughstock events; record penalties for any infractions of the rules; and inspect the arena, chutes and livestock before each competition.

Rodeo Terminology

Mark-Out

A bronc rider or bareback rider must have his heels ahead of the horse's shoulders on the first jump out of the chute. If the cowboy fails to do that (called "missing him out"), he is disqualified and receives no score.

Pickup Man

The horseback cowboy(s) in the arena who rescues or "picks up" the saddle bronc and bareback bronc riders from their horses after a ride.

Piggin' String

In tie-down roping, the small rope used to tie a calf's legs together.

Prize Money (Purse)

The total amount of monies to be distributed among the rodeo's winning athletes; the total amount each receives depends on his/her performance in each go-round.

Qualified Ride

Cowboys competing in roughstock events must remain mounted on the bronc or bull for eight seconds with their free hand not contacting the animal to receive a score.

Re-ride

A roughstock contestant may be given another ride, at the discretion of the judges, if the stock is judged not to have performed sufficiently to allow the contestant to fairly compete or if the flank strap comes off before the eight seconds has elapsed or if the rider or animal runs into the chute or chute gate while leaving the chute for the ride.

Rigging

The handhold and leather pad in bareback riding into which the cowboy wedges his hand prior to the ride.

Roughstock Event

(Riding events) Rodeo events based on judges' scoring (bareback riding, saddle bronc riding and bull riding).

Slack

Excess entries at some rodeos may be scheduled for preliminary (slack) competition, usually before the rodeo opens to the public. Times/scores recorded in slack count in the same way as those recorded in the regular (public) performances.

Spurs

Attached to the heels of cowboy boots used by riders. In bareback riding the cowboy "spurs" the horse by bring his spurs up the neck toward the handhold. In bronc riding the spurring motion is from the horse's shoulders in a sweeping arc back to the cantle of the saddle. Spurs are also used to help the rider hang on to a bull during competition. The spurs used in Pro Rodeo Canada rodeos have dulled rowels that do not penetrate the animals' skin.

Stock Contractor

Provides the animals for the rodeo.

Timed Events

Rodeo events based on speed (tie-down roping, steer wrestling, team roping and barrel racing).

Timers

Rodeo officials who use time-keeping equipment to track the official time in the timed events.

CRES - Central Rodeo Entry System

CRES

In this age of computers, it is hard to imagine that at one time cowboys often spent all day on a pay phone trying to enter a rodeo.

Contestants had to reach rodeo offices individually, usually with only one rodeo secretary taking all the calls. With entries taken only on specific dates, a contestant could spend hours trying to get through a jammed phone line.

In 1977, entering rodeos changed dramatically with the introduction of the Central Rodeo Entry System (CRES), a computerized telecommunications entry system which was designed to overcome the complications of entering rodeos by allowing cowboys to take care of the majority of their weekly rodeo business through one office.

Telephone operators are at the Pro Rodeo Canada office during the rodeo season to key in information given by the contestants.

Contestants not only tell the operator what events they are in and which days they would like to have at each rodeo, they can also enter with their traveling partners. CRES helps increase the likelihood that they will all compete at the same rodeos at the same time, therefore allowing them to share travel expenses.

After entries are closed, the computer randomly draws positions for each contestant entered. Once the CRES office has completed the draw, a callback day is held, usually within 24 hours of the rodeo entries closing, allowing contestants to phone back and find out what performance they have drawn for that rodeo. Once contestants have sorted out any conflicts they may have, the names and numbers of specific bucking stock are entered into the computer and each contestant is randomly assigned an animal. Contestants then call the CRES office for a scheduled stock callback to find out what stock they have drawn. This information is usually available to the contestants a minimum of one week before the rodeo in question begins.

Although various factors affect the chances of contestants getting the day they asked for, every cowboy entered in the roughstock events has an equal chance of drawing the best animal.

Considering contestants often enter two and sometimes three events, the computer is able to draw up a schedule that allows contestants to work as many as four rodeos a week-end, competing in all their events on the same day at each rodeo.

CRES requires a full-time supervisor and up to three part-time operators. CRES handles an estimated 40,000 calls per season, with all calls being recorded to ensure accuracy.

If a discrepancy occurs, the CRES manager listens to the call and the problem is immediately resolved.

* CRES offers an online entry option as well - available via the rodeocanada.com website.

Professional Judging System

PRO RODEO CANADA OFFICIALS

The Canadian Professional Rodeo Association's judging system was implemented in 1983. Since then it has expanded to employ up to 20 judges, supplemented by part-time, reserve officials who combine to make up the CPRA's Official Judging Team.

The objective of the system is in a word-consistency. Through instruction, constant attention to, interpretation and review of the rule book, and repetition of performance, a high level of consistency in judges' in-arena decisions can be achieved.

In 2016, there were 17 judges who worked the 56 rodeos, and as many as 12 judges are needed during some weeks of the season. Itineraries are drawn up so that the judges are paired up week-in and week-out with different partners. In other words, two to four-man teams will be mixed from one rodeo to the next, where dates and travel schedules permit. A few of the lead Pro Officials have over 20 years of judging experience.

A judging commission was formed to give input at the annual judging seminar. This committee evaluates the judges' performances at the seminar as well as throughout the year, and acts as a grievance committee for any complaints pertaining to pro officials. At the seminars, the commission members, along with the judges, take part in classroom and actual arena activities, reviewing rides on video, and discussing the reasoning behind their in-arena decisions. Sessions devoted to the rule book, interpretation of the rules, positioning and procedures are also held.

In the past, hiring judges was the responsibility of the stock contractor and the rodeo committees. Availability of individual cowboys was the determining factor in who judged a rodeo. The Pro Rodeo Canada Official Judging Team has overcome concern expressed by observers of the sport who had questioned the impartiality of judges; they asked how active contestants could not be influenced in their deliberations, judging one day and being judged the next by those they themselves had marked at a previous rodeo.

Through the help of our sponsors, the clinics, the growing experience of the judges, and the consistency in the marking of animals and rides, professional rodeo continues to improve.

Canadian Finals Rodeo Qualification Process

NON-CANADIAN RESIDENTS

The Association shall award the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association Canadian Championships in each year for the all-around, high point, saddle bronc, bareback, bull riding, tie-down roping, steer wrestling, ladies barrel racing, team roping, novice saddle bronc, novice bareback and steer riding winners.

Eligibility

1. Persons who are members of the Association in good standing, and who qualify under one of the criteria set forth below, shall be eligible to compete for the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association Canadian Championships:

- (a) Resident Canadian citizen; or
- (b) Landed Canadian Immigrant who has provided the association with sufficient evidence of such and whose status has been approved by the CPRA Board of Directors or Rodeo Administrator.
- (c) Non-Canadian Residents will be included in CPRA Standings. A maximum of five (5) non-Canadian Residents will be eligible for the Canadian Finals Rodeo and eligible to win a Canadian Championship if they have qualified the year finishing in the top twelve (12) in the Standings.

2. Where, for the purposes of these rules a question arises as to the residency or citizenship status of a member, the Association shall determine the question and the Association's decision shall be final and binding.

- (a) Factors which may be considered: Birth certificate/ place of birth;
Passport (s) held; Statutory declaration confirming citizenship/residency;
Place(s) of employment; and Jurisdiction where tax returns filed

3. All qualifiers for the CFR must have competed at 15 regular season CPRA rodeos during the current season.

* LBR qualifiers must have competed at 18 rodeos (see rulebook for details).

4. A member may request a "Medical Exemption" for the CFR, the following must apply:

- (a) Must have earnings enough to qualify through Standings, but due to medical reasons was unable to compete at the required number of rodeos.
- (b) Must have competed at 50% of the rodeos up to the time of injury.
- (c) Must provide the office with proper documentation
- (d) Must have Board approval

CANADIAN PRO TOUR

For the 2017 rodeo season, the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association will once again feature the Canadian Pro Tour, which is made up of a number of high-profile rodeos in Canada.

At one-go rodeos and multi-go rodeos points are awarded to 10 places in the go round(s) and average. In the case of a tie, points are added together and split. Also, all contestants will receive 5 pts for competing.

CPRA GRASS ROOTS SERIES

The 2017 Grass Roots Pro Rodeo Canada Series will include all rodeos except those on the Wrangler Canadian Rodeo Tour. The top ten qualifying contestants in the seven major events from this tour will compete in the 4th Annual Grass Roots Pro Rodeo Canada Series Final September 29-30 at the Agrium Western Event Centre, Stampede Park in Calgary, Alberta

The Grass Roots Rodeo Final, hosted by the CPRA, is sure to be an exciting event as it is the last chance for competitors to qualify for the Canadian Finals Rodeo. Tensions are high that time of year, with some competitors separated by just a few dollars in the CPRA standings. When the dust settles on day two of the final, there will be stories of heartbreak at falling just a few dollars shy, and extreme joy when some competitors beat all odds to qualify for the big show!

ALI MULLIN

Roping and riding across the Canadian Prairies is where you will find Ali Mullin. This cowgirl got her start in the equine industry by ranching with her parents on their Manitoba quarter horse operation. Doctoring cattle, starting colts, and showing home-raised Clay Ranch Quarter Horses led to a keen interest in the horse business, and a rodeo career spanning junior, high school and college ranks. Besides rodeo, Ali was involved in a variety of sports and activities in her time as a student at Cartwright High School.

In 2014, Ali graduated with honours from Lakeland College with a diploma in Agribusiness - Marketing Communications - as well as Cowgirl of the Year and High-Point Cowgirl honours from the CIRA.

Ali remains involved with her family's quarter horse program back home in Manitoba; she is in her second year of study at Medicine Hat College where she is pursuing a Bachelor of Applied Arts in Visual Communications. Upon completion of her education, she intends to begin a graphic design career. Ideally, she would like to focus her work in those areas that she has a personal passion for, being small businesses, the equine industry, and other agricultural advertising.

Having the opportunity to represent the Medicine Hat Exhibition and Stampede as the 2015 Queen was an honour for the Manitoba-born cowgirl, and a fantastic experience. Ali continues to promote the sport of rodeo as Miss Rodeo Canada.

GRANT RECLAIMS HIGH POINT TITLE

by Tim Ellis

For the second time in four years, Morgan Grant captured the Canadian High-Point championship at the CFR in November. But, unlike his title run in 2013, Grant's margin of victory this time was much less than $24,000 that year.

"Curtis was a beast all week and made it a race until the end," says Grant of nine-time High-Point champion, Curtis Cassidy, who finished runner-up by just over $8,000. "It was a nervous week."

"I knew that last day it would come down to who placed in the round but I had the (tie-down) roping as a fall back option if I needed it. I was grinding it out in the steer wrestling. I was drawing good but not getting the starts I wanted."

The 27 year-old Grant went into Edmonton with a $12,000 lead on his nearest competitor and was the only cowboy who qualified to compete at the CFR in two events. It was the third time he accomplished that feat.

"That's what I strive for every year is to make it in two events," offered the Ontario-born cowboy, who finished the season in 6th place in both the CPRA steer wrestling and tie-down roping standings. "This is something I work for all year and to win it is an honour."

"I had a good year, probably my best fall ever. I won Strathmore and did really well in Armstrong. The key to success is doing well at those big rodeos; then there's a lot less pressure."

Luke Butterfield Captures First All Around Award

by Tim Ellis

All through the 2016 season, Luke Butterfield insisted he was going to have more fun on the rodeo trail. The new mantra led to his first Canadian All-Around championship.

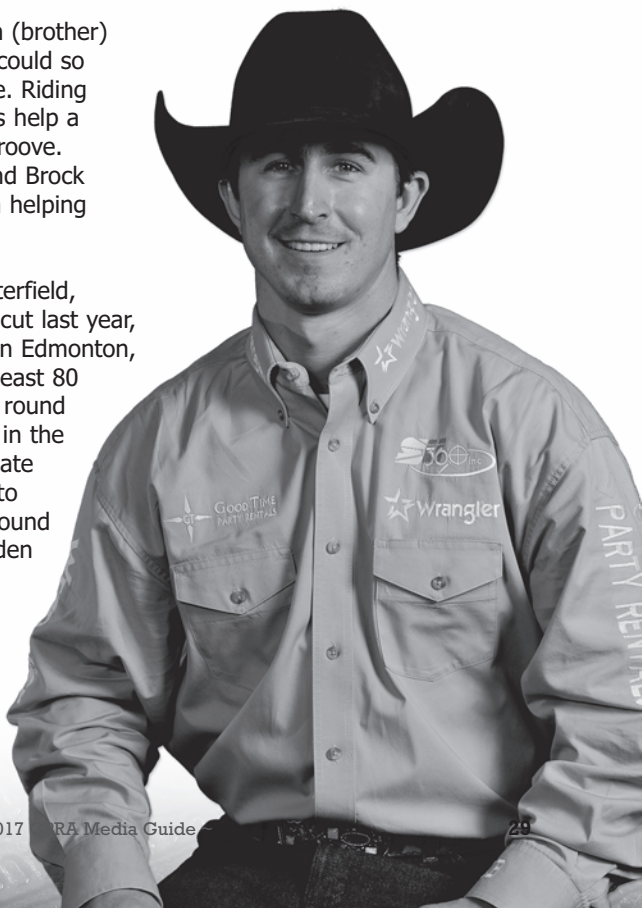

"Oh absolutely I had a lot of fun," chuckled Butterfield after winning the buckle at the Canadian Finals Rodeo at Northlands Coliseum in Edmonton in November. "I made sure I took care of business but I enjoyed it. You don't get to rodeo all your life so you have to enjoy it."

The only other Butterfield to have won the All-Around title is Brian, who is an uncle of Luke's dad, Greg. But it's the 18th time a member of the Hall of Fame family from Ponoka, Alta., has won a Canadian championship.

"It's a tough award to win, especially now because everybody specializes in their one event," offers Butterfield, who won the Canadian saddle bronc championship in 2012 and the novice title in 2004. "It's not easy."

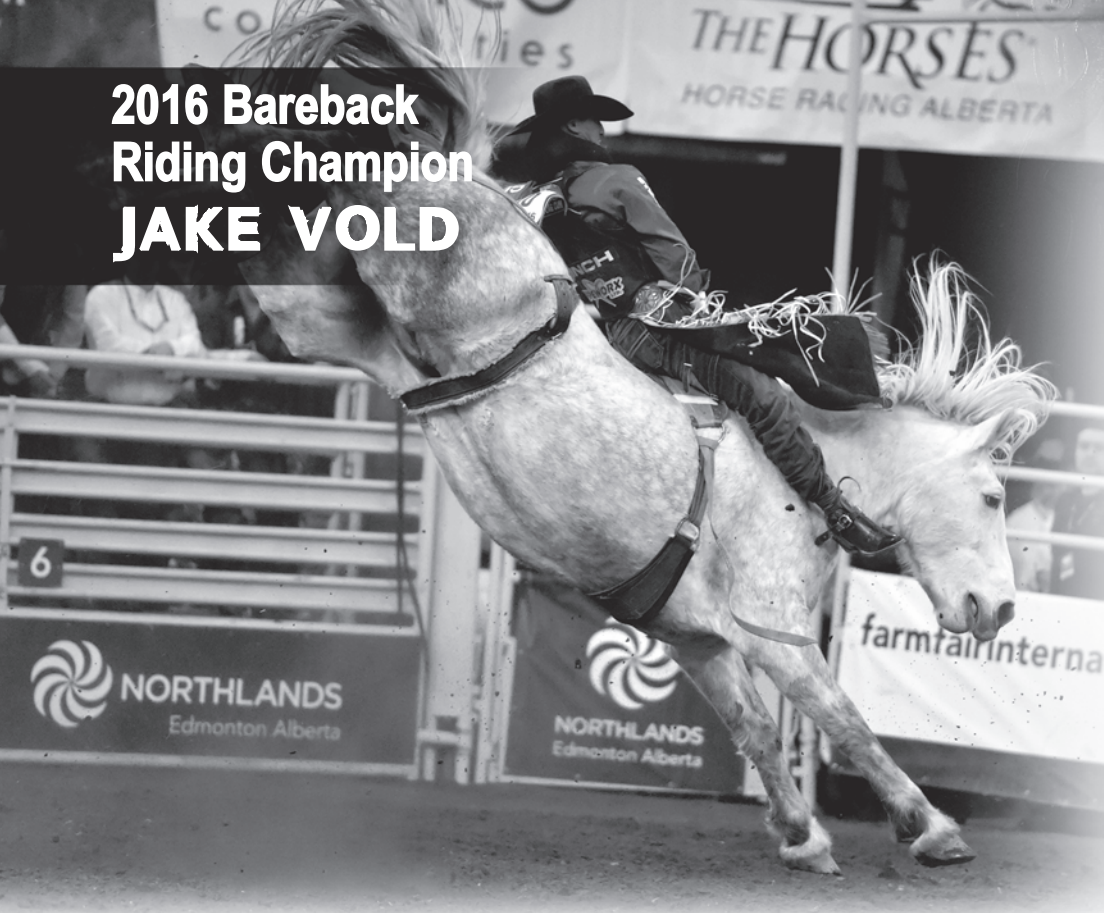

"I tried to enter with (brother) Brock as much as I could so I could use his horse. Riding the same horse does help a lot to get you in a groove. My mom and dad and Brock were instrumental in helping me win."

The 32 year-old Butterfield, who missed the CFR cut last year, won three cheques in Edmonton, posted scores of at least 80 points in all but one round and finished second in the saddle bronc aggregate for a $27,000 week to beat out 2015 All-Around champion, Josh Harden for the title.

Three and Counting For Bareback Champion Jake Vold

by Dianne Finstad

Dominate is a word that surfaces often in Jake Vold's vocabulary. It's what he sets out to do in his bareback riding each season.

The Ponoka-raised cowboy came into his seventh straight CFR chasing season leader Caleb Bennett. But Vold had his sights set on being the first cowboy since Dale Trottier in the 1970's to claim three bareback championships in a row.

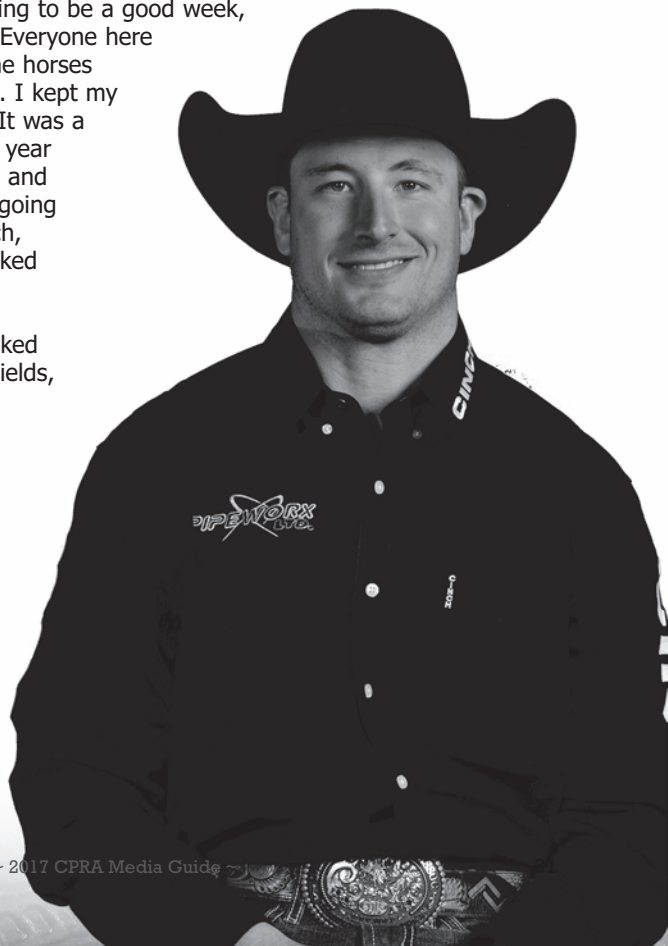

Vold won the first two nights, including an 89 point ride on his old friend Virgil, who earned C5 Rodeo a 'Horse of the CFR' award. In the end, placing in five of the six go-rounds and amassing $62,886, with his third Canadian buckle in hand, Vold could say 'mission accomplished'.

"I came in for this," stated Vold, who got married in August and makes his home in Airdrie with wife Sarah.

"I knew it was going to be a good week, but a hard week. Everyone here is phenomenal; the horses were phenomenal. I kept my eye on the prize. It was a little different this year coming in behind, and I knew Caleb was going to be hard to catch, but I guess it worked out in my favour."

"All the guys I looked up to, Bowers, Shields, LaValley, Cholach, Bill Boyd; they all had three. That's a number I've always had in my mind," he admits.

"But I'm not going to stop here. I'm going to keep working on it. I feel like I'm just getting into my prime now."

Nancy Csabay - The Comeback Kid

by Dave Poulsen

A little over a month before the 2016 Canadian Finals Rodeo, defending Canadian Champion barrel racer, Nancy Csabay was not among the 12 cowgirls who would be heading to Edmonton. It took a huge performance at the Pro Rodeo Canada Series Final in Calgary to move the 2015 champion among the qualifiers and give Csabay a chance to defend her title.

But once there, the Taber trainer/competitor was once again a picture of consistency. She won the third round on Friday night and added third place cheques in every other round to top the field in the average and take home the champion's saddle and buckle for a second time.

"It feels wonderful," the second generation cowgirl beamed. "It's something I never, ever expected. Going in to the Pro Series Final in Calgary I was 14th and I was able to move up to 7th there. Then to come here and go from 7th to 1st is amazing."

Csabay and her mare Wicked have been an electric pairing, especially for the last two seasons. "That horse of mine is a life changer. I just love her. I've learned that I just need to make the same run every time and not worry about the win... just do what I know and let my horse do what she knows."

Together Csabay and Wicked won $42,345 at the CFR to take Nancy's season total to $72,010, providing a slender $1200 edge over second place finisher, Hermiston, Oregon's Callahan Crossley.

For Clay Elliott, It's All About the Horses

by Dave Poulsen

“That’s where I kept my mind the whole week was on the bucking horses.” That’s how Clay Elliott described his approach to the Canadian Finals Rodeo minutes after the second generation Nanton cowboy had clinched his first Canadian Saddle Bronc Riding championship.

“For me it’s the one thing that never changes and that’s the horses.”

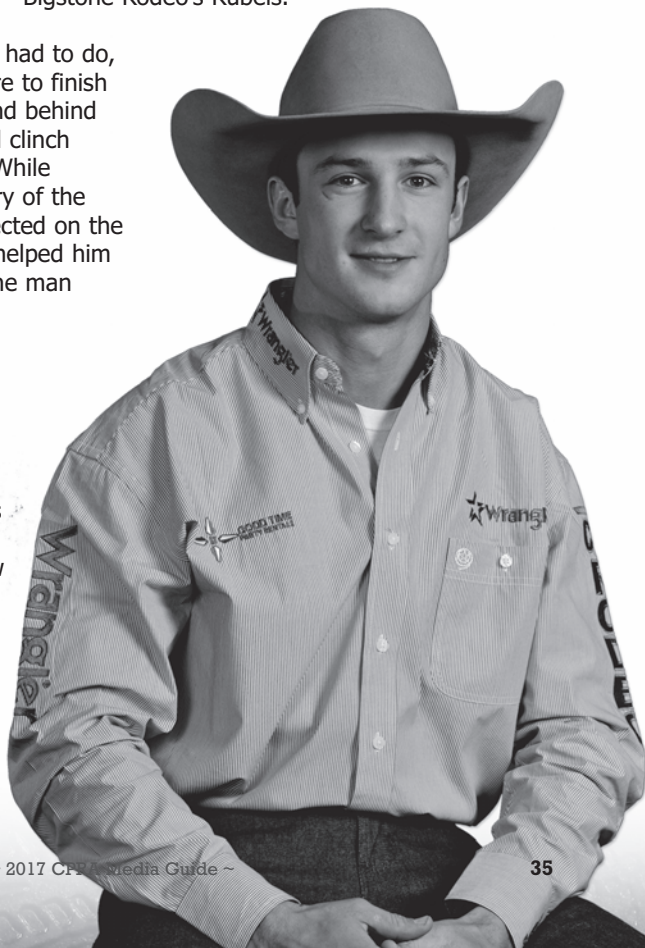

And for Sunday’s final round, the 2015 National Intercollegiate Champion and 2016 Houston winner couldn’t have hand-picked a better mount for his title showdown than Outlaw Buckers’ Lunatic Party, the three time Canadian Champion Saddle Bronc.

“I was really pleased to ride a bucking son of a gun like that,” Elliott smiled.

The soft-spoken talent came into Sunday with an $11,000 cushion on the second place man—the always consistent Jim Berry, who had also drawn a good one - Bigstone Rodeo’s Rubels.

Elliott did what he had to do, posting an 85 score to finish second in the round behind Layton Green and clinch the coveted title. While basking in the glory of the victory, Elliott reflected on the people who have helped him over the years—one man in particular.

“Next to my family, my biggest idol in rodeo is Winston Bruce,” he stated. “Lots of guys can ride bucking horses really well but that guy taught me how to win. He’s got it figured out and he’s got the gold buckle that says World Champion on his belt to prove it. I’d like to have one of those myself.”

Cody Cassidy Earns Fifth Title

by Dianne Finstad

When Cody Cassidy hones in on a target, there's a good chance he'll hit the bullseye – whether it's a trophy head or a steer wrestling championship.

The Donalda cowboy collected his fifth Canadian title in Edmonton, one more than his dad Greg, and the same number as Lee Graves.

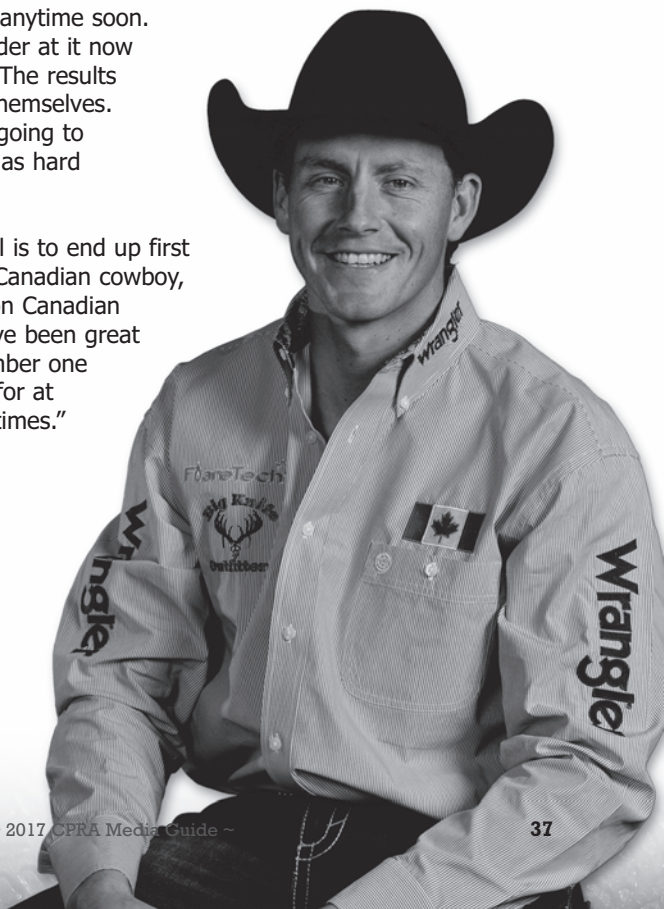

Cassidy came into Edmonton as defending titlist and season leader. He capitalized on the CFR cash opportunities, placing in every round but one, to win first in the average, and $44,453, capping off a $79,371 year.

"All I can say is it's been an absolutely perfect season," marveled the 35-year-old, who lives near Donalda. "I won everything that I wanted to win. The stars were aligned, and it was absolutely perfect."

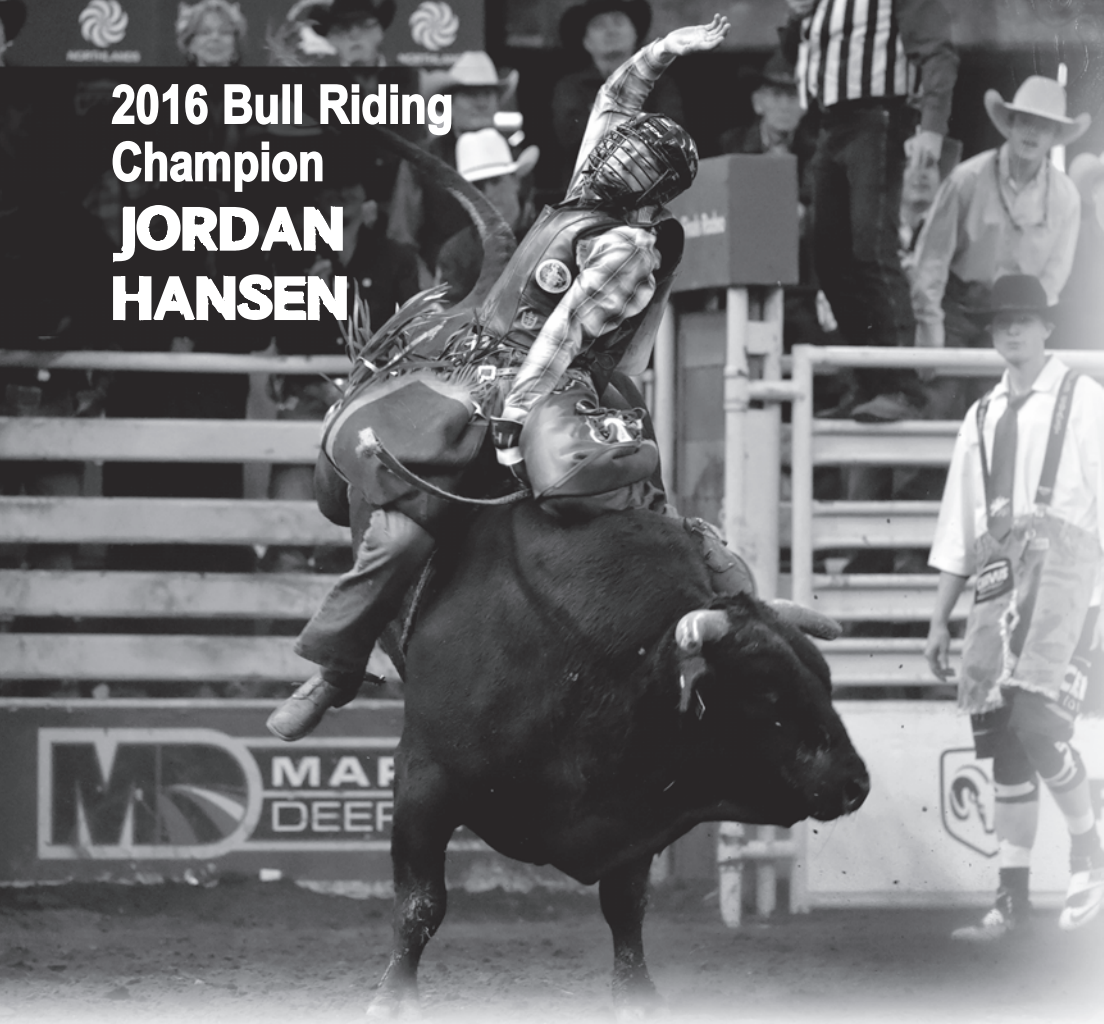

Who was Cody having to fend off as his nearest challenger this year? None other than his big brother Curtis, who has two steer wrestling buckles of his own, and won over $30,000 at the CFR. The newest Cassidy steer wrestling buckle makes it 11 in the family.

"I'm not stopping anytime soon.
I think I work harder at it now than I ever have. The results are speaking for themselves.
I'm going to stay going to the gym, working as hard as I can at it.

Ultimately my goal is to end up first every year. I'm a Canadian cowboy, so I concentrate on Canadian rodeos, and they've been great to me. So my number one goal is to be first for at least a few more times."

A black and white photograph of bull rider Jordan Hansen in mid-air, having been bucked off a dark-colored bull. He is wearing a plaid shirt, chaps, and a protective vest. The bull is in a powerful bucking stance. In the background, spectators and a rodeo official in a striped shirt and cowboy hat are visible. A sign for 'MD MARE DEEP' is partially visible on the arena fence.

Rocky Road for Jordan Hansen

by Tim Ellis

There's probably not much of an argument among those who follow the Canadian bull riding scene that Jordan Hansen could one day win a Canadian championship. But there could easily have been serious debate on whether that day would come in 2016.

It was back in July at the Cheyenne Frontier Days rodeo that Hansen's season went off course. "I had just finished riding my second bull and when I got off, my bull rope wrapped around the inside of my leg," began the 23 year-old in his description of what led to a severely broken ankle. "He pulled me underneath and stepped on me."

"I walked out of the arena and honestly thought I had just rolled it bad. Sport Medicine down there took a look and sent me for x-rays. When I got back home, the doctors here said it was broken in nine places."

It was then that any hope of winning a Canadian title seemed out of the question.

"They originally said I'd be out until the New Year because I also tore a major ligament and tendon," recalls the 25 year old. "I was almost sick to my stomach after hearing that."

The healing process began with Hansen told to keep any weight off the injured ankle while his leg was placed in a cast up to his knee. Then he was fitted with an air cast a few weeks later and eventually began an exercise program.

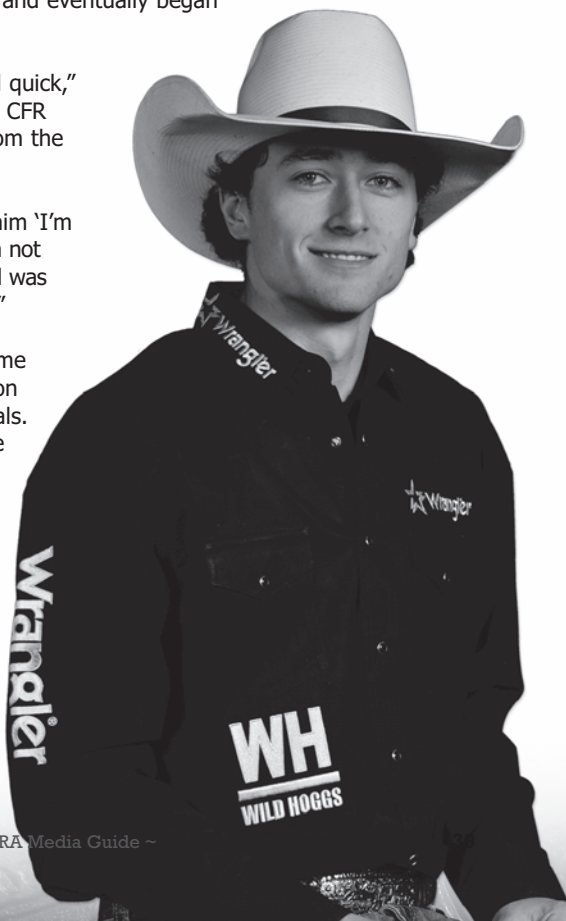

"I kept hoping and praying it would heal quick," offers Hansen, who has qualified for the CFR four consecutive years. "I told myself from the start that I would ride at the Finals."

"The next time I saw the doctor, I told him 'I'm probably going to ride in November so I'm not even going to ask you if it's ok'. All he said was to get it in as good a shape as possible."

"I was excited and nervous all at the same time," reveals Hansen, who had gotten on a couple of practice bulls before the Finals. "I was pretty close to getting the whistle and everything felt good."

"I gained a lot of confidence when I rode my next bull on Thursday. Then after I rode Friday night, I told myself there were no more excuses. I was ready to go."

Hansen went on to ride the next three as well, winning round five and the aggregate on his way to knocking off reigning champ, Dakota Buttar to win the championship.

Down to the Wire For Matt Shiozawa

by Dave Poulsen

“It’s kind of a relief,” Matt Shiozawa admitted after learning that he was the Tie Down Roping Champion of Canada for the second time in his career. The first time was back in 2014.

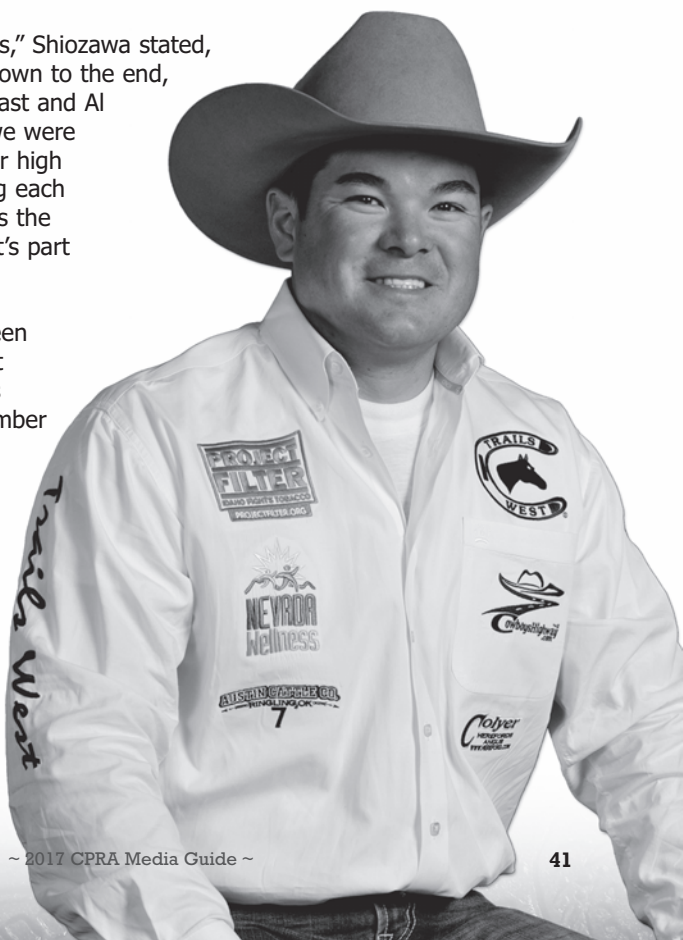

In a battle that literally went down to the last loop of the final performance at CFR ‘43, Shiozawa was the victor by the narrowest of margins, edging Scandia, Alberta’s Al Bouchard, the last Canadian to win the title (2009).

Popularly known as Shazam in the roping community, the Idaho super-looper came into the final round trailing Bouchard by $4800 but sitting fourth in the average while Bouchard was not factoring in the average. When Shiozawa tied his final round calf in 8.0, it meant Bouchard had to better that time to maintain his lead.

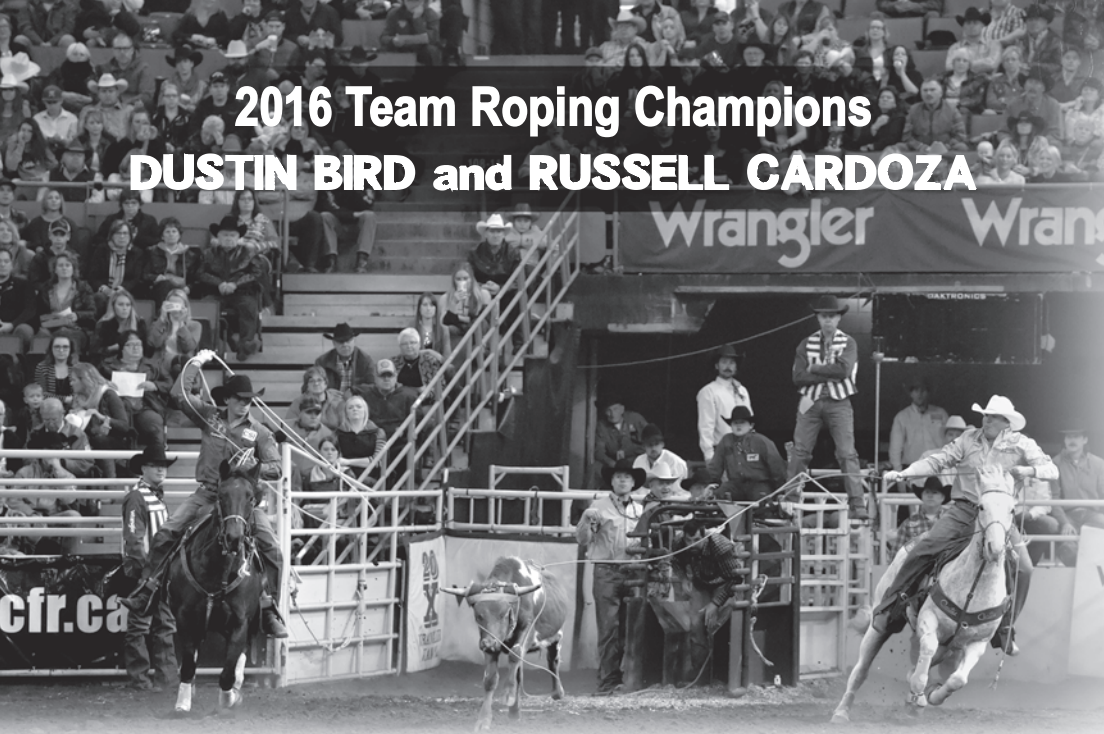

And with his last loop of the season, the guy with a hand so sore he couldn’t shake hands made a valiant effort checking in at 8.1. Two tenths of a second faster would have meant the title stayed north of the 49th parallel.

“The best part is,” Shiozawa stated, “when it came down to the end, I roped second last and Al roped last and we were giving each other high fives and wishing each other luck. That’s the camaraderie that’s part of this sport.”

Shiozawa has been a familiar face at Canadian rodeos over the last number of years. “I love coming up here and I respect and admire the way the CPRA runs their business,” the Blackfoot, Idaho hand noted. “And I really enjoy this finals in Edmonton.”

Partnership Pays Off

by Dave Poulsen

For the second time in five years, Cutbank, Montana cowboy, Dustin Bird made the time he spent on the north side of the 49th parallel a profitable investment. The 2012 Canadian Team Roping champion was partnered throughout the 2016 rodeo season with Russell Cardoza, the Terrebonne, Oregon tie down roper and heeler who had four Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualifications to his credit.

And when the curtain came down on the 2016 CFR, Bird and Cardoza were the champions.

The team formed near the end of 2015. "I needed a partner at the time to help me get to the NFR," Cardoza said, "and I heard Dustin was out there. We teamed up and I got to Las Vegas. This year, Dustin really wanted to include the Canadian rodeos in our schedule. That was fine with me. Now I can't wait to get back up here next year."

Bird, who became a new dad just prior to the CFR, concurred. "I wasn't having a great year in 2015," he related, "and had pretty well decided to shut down when Russell called me. I figured if I could help him get to Las Vegas, I'd have a real good partner for this year."

That's exactly how it worked out as the duo were a dominant force on both sides of the border throughout the 2016 season.

"I grew up close to the Canadian border," Bird, added. "I wanted to win a Canadian championship and after I did that five years ago I was hoping to win it again so this is great."

World Champion - World Ch

It might have been the greatest fifteen minutes in the history of Canadian Professional Rodeo.

For the first time ever Canadians have ridden away from the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo with three world titles. Levi Simpson and Jeremy Buhler in the Team Roping and Zeke Thurston in the Saddle Bronc Riding are all sporting the coveted gold buckles of World Champions.

Simpson from Ponoka (via Claresholm) and Buhler from Arrowwood had already made history when they became the first all-Canadian team to qualify for the WNFR. But that apparently wasn't enough for the Alberta duo as they put together a 4.3 second run in the tenth and final go round at the Thomas and Mack Arena round to split 1/2 and pick up a cheque of $23,480.77. That was good enough to take the team to the average title and a whopping $67,269.23 per man.

Champion - World Champion

by Dave Poulsen

Put all that together along with the fact that some of the teams they were chasing struggled in the final round and the first-time qualifiers were World Champions—Levi with $249,133.31 in season earnings and Jeremy, sporting the most famous beard in rodeo, earning $258,311.13.

The talented twosome roped nine of ten steers, placed on seven, winning the first round and splitting first and second in two more including the critical tenth round. When the announcement was made both cowboys were close to speechless, unlike the Canadian fans, both in the arena and back in Canada. The roar of approval was long and very loud. "I can honestly say we didn't come here thinking we were going to win the world," Simpson admitted. Though by round ten it was clear that if the chips fell the right way the Canadians had a chance.

"That's a moment you dream about your whole life but don't really expect it to happen," Buhler added.

The Saddle Bronc Riding follows team Roping on the NFR program which meant that almost exactly fifteen minutes after Simpson and Buhler had laid claim to their title, Big Valley cowboy, Zeke Thurston, climbed down in the chutes on the back of the Andrews Rodeo bronc, Fire Lane. The second generation qualifier, who came into the final round two points out of the lead for the average put together another solid ride for an 86 score to split 3/4 in the round and a cheque for $13,326.92. When Jake Watson posted 82.5 points and world leader/defending champion, Jacobs Crawley missed his horse out, Thurston vaulted to first place in the average and a season total of $265,449.45 to edge Crawley for the world title by just $2831.

"I wouldn't trade it for anything," the recently married Thurston grinned. "I just can't believe it. It's crazy. I had a good week. I started off a little slow but things picked up. Luckily I was able to stay on nine of them. I knew the only way I could beat Jacobs was if they got him down or they missed him out and that doesn't happen very often with Jacobs. It just goes to show you that anything can happen."

2016 Rookie of the Year and Permit Winner

LANE CUST

A hotly contested race for 2016 CPRA Rookie of the Year went right to the finish line, and in the end, it was Lane Cust who rode away with the title.

Cust, Novice Saddle Bronc champion for the previous two years, made a smooth transition to pro ranks. The 21-year-old placed at just his fourth rodeo in the spring, and earned the rest of what he needed for a full pro card at Stavely. He went on to win money at a dozen more shows, securing a spot at his first CFR in the open bronc riding.

"I drew really well all year," said Cust. "I tried to pick away as much as I could, and focus on consistency and doing my best on every ride."

While Cust kept focused on "the next ride", he was aware of the rookie race, where a crop of talented competitors was led by steer wrestler Brendan Laye for much of the season.

"I knew I was close after Armstrong," Cust recalled. "I was hurt near the end of the year, and I turned out of Okotoks and Medicine Lodge, which were a couple of opportunities for money."

When it came to the Grass Roots (Cinch) Finals in Calgary, the chips were down.

"Brendan and I were about $400 apart, so I had to go at each horse."

Cust made two outstanding rides, and the pair of go-round victories gave him $5000, enough to shoot past Laye for the overall rookie title, with $20,407.

The season definitely had some highlights for Cust, including the ride in Stavely which launched his pro career.

"I was lucky enough to draw the Vold horse Eclypce. That white paint horse can be an eliminator. He's big and strong. So it was a good test for me. To get by him, and place, was a boost of confidence."

"My first win came at Teepee Creek. It was their 100th anniversary and I received the first Greg Kesler Memorial Buckle, so that was pretty special."

One of Cust's longest drives this year resulted in a victory at the northernmost Field of Dreams rodeo in La Crete. His biggest single payday was at the Strathmore Stampede, where he won $3378.

Cust, from Ardmore, now lives at Sylvan Lake, with three other cowboys. He welds for fellow bronc rider Jim Berry's company, and values time on the trail with the veteran pro.

"Jim is going to be a threat no matter what he gets on, and he makes the most of every horse. To win money every day, you need the ability to go at every horse a hundred and ten per cent, like Jim does."

"He's such a good guy to travel with, and a lot of fun. He knew where to be, and what pens to enter. I learned a lot from him this year," credited Cust.

Unlike some of his contemporaries, Cust did not take out his PRCA card until after the 2016 season.

"My goal was to get to Edmonton. I wanted to make sure I proved myself up here first. I just wanted to do one step at a time. I felt I wasn't quite ready, and wanted to improve in the arena. But hopefully, I can make my way to Las Vegas one day too."

"It's a pretty special feeling to win that award. There were a lot of great rookies this year. It was a huge honor to be the top money earner and I just hope every year keeps getting better."

Canada's top rookie was a dual winner, also picking up the 2016 Permit Award.

RICK HOZACK - Committee Person of the Year

"If you're not going ahead, you're going back."

Those are the words of 2016 CPRA Committee Person of the Year Rick Hozack, and that sentiment pretty well characterizes the belief, not only of Hozack, but of the entire Lea Park Rodeo committee that he has been a part of for "closing in on 35 years."

Hozack who has been the organization's treasurer for 20 of those years, points with pride at the financial sustainability of the organization. "We don't get grants—we have to manage our money really well and rely on our sponsors and many of them have been with us as long as I have and they've made it clear they're not going anywhere."

Another source of pride for Hozack and his volunteer partners is the ground at Lea Park. "That's a passion of mine. We've won the Most Improved Ground Award and the Golden Rake and we're really proud of how hard we work at giving our competitors the safest ground we possibly can."

The Hozack commitment doesn't end with Rick's own involvement in the event. "My wife has made it possible for me to take the time I do to work on this thing, my son has been a part of for 19 years—and he's only 34 year-old—my daughter does the program, my sister is involved as well—pretty well the whole family are passionate about the Lea Park Rodeo." And that commitment isn't likely to end anytime soon. Hozack has already been thinking about the future of one of Canada's premiere rodeo events. "We were a tour rodeo and that was tough for us. I don't see us getting back to being a tour rodeo; instead I'd like to see us be the biggest little rodeo in Canada. That's something to shoot for—we've got a unique setting, one of the best rodeo offices anywhere, we manage our money really well and we've got darn good ground. All of those things matter to us."

Factor in the fun atmosphere that is a trademark of the Lea Park Rodeo and you can understand why Hozack and the rest of the committee are very excited about the future.

As for the award, Hozack was genuinely modest. "I think about how few people have received this award over the years and to be worthy of it makes me just really humble and grateful."

BRETT GARDINER - Announcer of the Year

Brett Gardiner enjoyed his fourth consecutive appearance behind the microphone at the CFR in 2016, an honour that came on the heels of his being named Canada's Rodeo Announcer of the Year for the sixth time.

Fittingly, during his intercollegiate career, Brett was the two-time winner of the Bill Kehler Memorial Scholarship (which recognizes the late Hall of Fame announcer/broadcaster) and Brett is quick to acknowledge his pride in being able to follow in the footsteps of the legendary Kehler.

Brett is one of Canada's most recognizable rodeo voices as he informs and entertains fans at a number of our sport's most important events across western Canada and beyond.

A school teacher when not on the rodeo trail, Brett, his wife Jaclyn, son, Grady, and daughters, Hadley and Blakely, reside in Sylvan Lake, AB.

NIKI FLUNDRA - Dress Act of the Year

2016 marks the sixth time Niki Flundra has been honoured as the Dress Act of the Year. A Canadian icon, Flundra established herself as a 'liberty' horse entertainer have taken Niki to the arenas of many of the biggest and best rodeos in North America including the Calgary Stampede, Houston, Fort Worth, the Wrangler NFR (seven times) and our own Canadian Finals Rodeo. Niki has appeared as a stunt double in numerous motion picture and television shows, including CBC's popular Heartland series.

Niki, her husband, three time Canadian Saddle Bronc Champion, Dustin, and their sons, Ridge and Shade, live and ranch south of Pincher Creek, AB.

DENNIS HALSTEAD - Comedy Act of the Year

2016 marks the fifth time Dennis Halstead has been recognized as CPRA Comedy Act of the Year. Retired from a 30 year career as a Calgary fireman, Dennis spends much of the year on the road travelling to rodeos across North America where his zany humour is enjoyed by fans of all ages.

Dennis has enjoyed appearances at the Calgary Stampede, the Dodge Circuit Finals... and even rodeos in Australia. He was alternate barrelman at the 2016 WNFR.

"I'm very fortunate to get to do what I do," Dennis comments. "It's a dream to be a rodeo down and live the lifestyle of a cowboy."

2016 Cowboy of the Year

SCOTT BYRNE

The job description is simple and to the point. You put your body on the line to ensure the bull rider gets away safely.

For two decades Scott Byrne did that job as well as anyone in the world of rodeo. And the amazing career that ended in his retirement in 2015 was celebrated one more time at the Northlands Coliseum when "Scotty" was honoured as the 2016 Cowboy of the Year.

"No one can know how much this means to me," Byrne said, his trademark grin firmly in place. "Just to be mentioned alongside that amazing group of previous winners—that's something I'll always cherish."

Scott Byrne was born on a small farm/ranch just outside of Prince Albert, Sask and only a mile from his Uncle Ryan, who was the first Canadian to fight bulls at the WNFR.

So it's not surprising that a rural Saskatchewan kid with a talented family member to look up to might want to take the same path. And Scott Byrne did exactly that. But not right away.

First there was an ill-fated fling with riding bulls. "I was terrible," he admits. "I had the will and the determination but I just couldn't master it. Which is probably why I kept getting knocked out all the time."

It was a conversation with his uncle that changed everything for the younger Byrne. "We were fencing one day," Scott recalls, "and Ryan said, 'you know this riding bulls isn't for everybody.'" The next spring Scott enrolled in Ryan's Bull Fighting school held in conjunction with the Johansen brothers Bull Riding School.

"I liked it. I had the best teacher I could have and it all just seemed to click for me," Scott recalls. It clicked so well, in fact, that the fledgling bull fighter received the Top Student Award. "That was it; I was hooked."

Scott's progress was quick and the opportunities began to present themselves. The CCA finals in '95, a pro permit in 1997 and his first pro rodeo—the Medicine Hat Spring Rodeo, working alongside his mentor, Ryan, that same year. Once again working for free as part of the learning curve.

At least so he thought. Until Committee Chairman, Ross Brigden, walked into the dressing room and presented Scott with his first pro cheque...for $400.00. "That was amazing," Scott beams as he remembers the moment. "They didn't have to do that and it was pretty darn cool that they did."

Next came a couple of calls from the late Winston Bruce, Hall of Fame Bronc Rider and then Rodeo Manager of the Calgary Stampede. The first was for Scott to work the slack at Rodeo Royal, Calgary's longtime spring rodeo; the second offered the young Byrne one performance at the Calgary Stampede.

More pro rodeos followed—Hanna, Agribition in Regina and Medicine Hat. Then in the spring of 2000 came a call from stock contractor, Wayne Vold. One of his go-to bull fighters, Jason Hale, was hanging up the deats and wanted to hand off his rodeos to Scott Byrne. The grateful Scott accepted the offer, and went to work for another soon-to-be Hall of Famer.

One of the biggest moments in a career filled with highlights came when he was driving back from a rodeo. Former bullfighter and mentor, Jason Davidson, called with the cryptic three word message, "Pack your bags." The reason—Scottie had been selected to work the 2002 Canadian Finals Rodeo.

"Truth is I'd been putting my name in since 1997 but looking back at it now, I wasn't ready," Scott notes. "I tell my bull fighting students—it's a lot better to take longer to get there but to belong when you do get there."

And in '02 he was more than ready and he did belong. That year began a string that saw Scott Byrne earn thirteen CFR selections and one alternate selection. "It's what we all live for and think about all year long and when you get that call, it makes all the miles and the aches and pains worth it."

One thing Scott Byrne is very clear on. Although he's now retired from the, he isn't planning to disappear. "I wouldn't mind getting into producing some events eventually and maybe even a little announcing. Plus I've got a couple of cowboy kids and they're going to need a driver," Scott chuckles. Scott Byrne received the Douglas Lake Ranch bronze created by Ross Contway, a Troy Fischer buckle and a leatherbound Bible from the Fellowship of Christian Cowboys.

2016 Cowgirl of the Year

BROOK ROBERTSON

Brook Robertson, 2016 Canadian Cowgirl of the Year, has worn a few different hats. But whether that hat sported a tiara emblematic of rodeo royalty or whether it was pulled down tight for the next barrel racing run, Brook has always put the good of the sport she loves first.

"I didn't know how to respond at first," she admitted after learning she had been selected for the Cowgirl of the Year Award. "I was completely surprised. It's the most significant award I've ever received, especially as you have to be nominated, and then voted on by your peers."

Brook had filled in as barrel rep on the CPRA Board of Directors, then nominated Monica Wilson to take over the role. "I always like to help so I continued to assist Monica in the field, for example with arranging barrel reps."

Brook grew up in a rodeo family—her mom is Canadian Champion barrel racer, Dee Butterfield—and has spent much of her life travelling the rodeo trail. Her childhood memories are of long hours on the road getting to the next rodeo, carrying the Canadian flag in grand entries and meeting new friends. Since she was able to ride, Brook has been a barrel racer. And almost from the beginning she was successful, winning the 1992 Year-End FCA Junior Barrel Racing Championship and qualifying for the Silver State Finals in Fallon, NV in 1993. As well, in 1994, she earned the title of Alberta High School Rodeo Queen.

After completing her reign as AHSRA Queen, she moved to Vernon, BC to complete her high school education. Then in December of 1996, Brook returned to her home town of Ponoka, Alberta and her first love, rodeo. On July 1, 1997 she was crowned Miss Ponoka Stampede which gave her the opportunity to compete for the title of Miss Rodeo Canada. During that competition, she won the horsemanship category and scored the highest mark on the rodeo knowledge test en route to being crowned the 1998 Miss Rodeo Canada.

Following her reign, the opportunity came along to train full time, and she didn't have to think twice. Since then she has competed in futurities, derbies and rodeos, culminating in her 2014 CFR qualification, all while pursuing a very successful career as an Arbonne representative and National Vice-President.

As for the future, Brook plans to continue moving forward with her barrel racing career with three strong horses to compete on, including Jewel, the grey she rode at the Canadian Finals Rodeo.

And you can rest assured that she will be involved with the CPRA in some capacity and will promote the sport of rodeo any way she can. From occasionally speaking out on behalf of her fellow competitors to liaising with committees, competitors, contractors and fans, Brook Robertson has been and remains a tremendous ambassador and positive force for the sport she is so passionate about.

Brook received a buckle donated by D. Bassnet Enterprises and a leather-bound bible from the FCC.

Canadian Pro Rodeo Sport Medicine

The Canadian Pro Rodeo Sport Medicine Team, or CPRSMT, is a group of dedicated caregivers who love the sport of rodeo... and who have been helping rodeo athletes for over 30 years. Team members

(in such disciplines as athletic therapy, massage therapy and chiropractic care) provide care before, during or after each performance, as necessary. Practitioners also educate and enable competitors to take better care of themselves and their injuries to ensure they get the most out of their rodeo season. In addition, the CPRSMT also includes a network of physicians, sport medicine doctors and orthopaedic surgeons providing post injury care to rodeo competitors.

Stock Contractor of the Year - CALGARY STAMPEDE

The Calgary Stampede has been selected as the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association's 2016 Stock Contractor of the Year. Voted on by members of the CPRA, the award recognizes excellence in the rodeo industry.

"The hard work and dedication of the rodeo committee makes it possible for us to showcase the animals that come from the Stampede Ranch," noted Calgary Stampede Ranch manager, Tyler Kraft. "We are extremely appreciative of them, as well as the competitors who trust us to provide great horses and bulls for their sport."

The Calgary Stampede's history as a stock contractor dates back over fifty years to the establishment of the 22,000 acre Stampede Ranch, located near Hanna, Alberta, that has been home to some of the greatest bucking horses in the history of the sport and in recent years a superior bucking bull program as well.

Today the Stampede is the primary stock contractor at eight rodeos in Canada and the United States including the Strathmore Stampede, Armstrong IPE and Stampede, the Pendleton Round Up, and the Calgary Stampede itself. Stampede horses and bulls also compete year-round at many other rodeos throughout North America and have been front and centre at both the Canadian Finals Rodeo and Wrangler NFR in Las Vegas.

Saddle Bronc Horse of the Year

242 GET SMART - Northcott-Macza Rodeo

"He's only been rode once this year out of 11 trips," says Ward Macza of two-time Saddle Bronc of the Year, 242 Get Smart.

"He has always bucked out of a left hand delivery chute," he says. "But he was blowing out so hard that I was scared he was going to hurt someone, so I changed him to a right hand delivery, and like I said, he's only been rode once this year." This stellar record has earned Get Smart another trip to the WNFR in Vegas.

"He's in his prime and having the best year of his life," says Macza of the 14-year-old-gelding.

It's no surprise to rodeo fans that the comparatively small 1,100 lb bay had such a great year; after all, bloodlines tell the tale. Raised in the shadow of the Rocky Mountains near Caroline, Alta., Get Smart is the son of Harvey Northcott's Hall of Fame stud, Wyatt Earp.

"Get Smart is going to Edmonton and Vegas," says Macza proudly. "He's a little horse with a big heart."

Bareback Horse of the Year

717 MUST HAVE - Kesler Rodeo Co.

When they click the latch holding back the stocky grey stud Must Have one thing is for sure — the cowboy “must have” a good grip or he won’t last long.

He was ranch-raised on Kesler’s outfit in southern Alberta and out of the late Greg Kesler’s stud, Three Wages. Now nine, Must Have is turning heads and racking up some big wins.

“He’s not a real big horse, but he bucks big,” says Duane. Still, he tops the scales at around 1,200 lbs. “He’s solid muscle and just the way he’s built, he’s the perfect package.

“Anytime our animals perform well we cheer for them. We don’t say too much; we like them to do the talking for us,” he says. “But a horse can’t buck much harder than he did this year.”

Bull of the Year

127 COOPER’S COMET - Vold Rodeo Co. Ltd.

No one is more pleased at his bull’s success than Nansen Vold, who recognized something special in Cooper’s Comet when he bought a cow/calf pair from retired bull rider, Aaron Gibb.

Cooper’s Comet burst onto the scene and turned heads at Ponoka when Lonnie West scored 90.25 points on him in the Finals, so it was no surprise that he was chosen for the 2015 CFR and was the runner-up for bull of the Finals. “He’s very consistent, and bull riders want to get on him,” says Vold.

In the 2016 season he was ridden once at a PBR event. Probullstats.com lists him as having a 92 per cent buck off rate. And, according to Vold, the four-year-old is in “the prime of his life.”

He’s going to Vegas for the PBR Finals and then back to Edmonton for the CFR.

The Vold’s are proud of this bull, but what makes him the family’s sentimental favourite is that Vold named him after his step-brother, Cooper Tonneson, who died in 2014 from complications of lupus, at just 19.

“He means a lot to us,” says Vold. “To have him picked by the bull riders as the number one bull in Canada, that’s a pretty big honour.”

2016 Timed Event Horses of the Year

by Terri Mason

Barrel Racing Horse With the Most Heart

Special Tack (Racey) - owned by Kirsty White

At 14.3 hh, Racey isn't the biggest horse but she just might be the grittiest.

"At times I almost regret giving her that nickname, because a lot of times she's got more "go" than I can handle," laughs Kirsty.

Now 10, Racey is a rock-solid, consistent performer. Kirsty doesn't turn the mare loose, but guides and protects her tremendous energy and heart.

"I have to always consider the conditions like the ground and weather; I don't have to win every race."

"When I found out she won I was so touched, you can't imagine," says Kirsty. "She's just the little horse that could."

Tie-Down Roping Horse of the Year

Hollywood Himself (TJ) - owned by Logan Bird

In the last three years, TJ has earned over $300,000 carrying some of the biggest names in rodeo.

At 14.3 hands, the 13-year-old gelding isn't the biggest horse, but the stocky athlete is solid when he backs into the box.

"He's got a good disposition and never really causes a problem," says Logan Bird. "But when you get ready to rope he's ready to go. He'll jig around but he always does his job."

This year, TJ and Bird won the season leader and a berth at the CFR, but unlike previous years, he's keeping TJ all to himself.

"It's cool to have a horse that good," says Bird.

Steer Wrestling Horse of the Year

Tennessee Fly By (Tank) - owned by Dustin Walker

For two years in a row, Dustin Walker's mount Tank has been honoured as the Steer Wrestling Horse of the Year.

"He definitely deserves it," says Walker. "I was surprised but really proud; especially that he won two years in a row."

To give you an idea of how fast Tank comes out of the box, Walker dropped his steer in 3.1 seconds this year at Pincher Creek.

"He's a pretty easy-going horse, but he's got a mind of his own some days. Most champions do."

2016 Timed Event Horses of the Year

Team Roping Heading Horse of the Year

Tuffys Badger Chex (Badger) - owned by Kolton Schmidt

The no-nonsense and decidedly focused 12-year-old black gelding known as Badger made history in 2016.

"He has always been a great horse," says Kolton Schmidt. "But this year he's been an amazing horse. From June-on, I don't think he's made a mistake; he's been unbelievable."

For the second time he was voted in as the Canadian Heading Horse of the Year (2014, 2016). Then a few weeks later Badger made history as the first Canadian horse to be voted in as the PRCA/AQHA Heading Horse of the Year across the border.

"Our family is very proud of him and we can't wait to see where he takes us."

Team Roping Heeling Horse of the Year

GLH Frostbite Olena (Rick James - owned by Jeremy Buhler)

From amateur to pro to his second trip to the CFR, Jeremy Buhler's horse Rick James was his main horse through it all.

At 14.2 hands, the fifteen-year-old dun doesn't exactly tower over the competition. "I've ridden a lot of big horses and he tries a lot harder than most of them," says Buhler.

Buhler has let a few cowboys ride, including Russell Cardoza, who won Armstrong. "He's a pretty aggressive horse," he explains.

"He's really likes to win."
